RACIAL ORIGINS AGAIN

By Herbert J. Samuel

The vexed question of racial origins in Canada, dealt with in the Review a few months ago, has again come to the front in connection with the census of the prairie provinces. A general census of the whole of Canada is taken every ten years but the law provides for a census of the prairie provinces every five years. This census will be taken on June 1. Instructions to the government enumerators prohibit the use of the term "Canadian" as applicable to race. The Manitoba "Free Press" has in two recent editorials protested against the degrading absurdity that the existence of a Canadian is denied by the census regulations.

"There is no room in our records," objects the "Free Press," "for the word 'Canadian' as representing race. They register scores of other races, but the Canadian race is non-existent. No matter how long our families may have been on this continent, we are still Swedes, or Dutchmen, or Irish, or Scotch, or Welsh, or English. Now in contradiction to all this we maintain that there is a race of Canadians. The evidence that there is such a people is to be seen of all men in the form of hundreds of thousands of men, women and children, who, as must be plain to all who have eyes to see and ears to hear, are not English, not Scotch, not Irish, not continental European. They are Canadians and nothing else, living in a land which disowns them. It is time that they should serve notice on the Government of this country that they do not propose to put up longer with this particular insult which they have to stomach every time they entertain a census enumerator or fill out a vital statistics form. The issue is perfectly simple. It is that people born in this country of mixed parentage are entitled to be enrolled in the citizenship records of this country as belonging to the Canadian race."

What an absurdity it is that those who are constantly prating of patriotism and are incessantly waving the flag in the face of the "foreigner" will not allow him to claim it as his own even when all trace of his origin is obliterated! But governments, provincial and federal, go on insisting upon problematical and meaningless racial origin. What is behind it; the red tape of official obscurantism, or a religious clinging to the mediaevalisms of a forgotten past?

THE PRIVILEGE OF CITIZENSHIP

It will be remembered that we dealt, in the Review of March 12, with the "patriotic" objections that had been raised in Winnipeg against the selection of the design for the Cenotaph on the ground that the artist, Mr. Hahn, was a German. The Men's Canadian Club of Winnipeg has insisted all along on the acceptance of the decision of the competent judges in favour of Mr. Hahn's design, and the Women's Canadian Club is supporting the Men's Club in this stand. Now the Manitoba "Free Press" adds its editorial approval to this right and honourable attitude. "There is no justification," it says, "for passing over Mr. Hahn. He is a Canadian having fulfilled all the tests of citizenship which this country requires; he is entitled to all the rights enjoyed by other Canadians. . . . We cannot afford to accept the view that there are Canadians of different orders of merit to be determined by the blood that runs in their veins. This is the view of the Canadian Clubs and we are very sure that the great majority of Canadians are in agreement with them." Those are handsome and honest words. Hats off to the Canadian Clubs of Winnipeg and the Manitoba "Free Press"!

CIVILIZATION?

We would like to know a little more about the refusal of the French and Spanish Governments to allow Red Cross assistance to the Riffian forces against which they are fighting. If it is true, it certainly places a very serious moral responsibility upon these representatives of European civilization, and upon the League of Nations of which they are members. The Riffs are only Arabs, we are told, and Arabs in rebellion—but there is a voice of humanity. We do not pretend to understand the ways of diplomacy, but it does look as if a moral crime were being committed, tacitly condoned by a Europe that calls itself Christian. Where is the Christianity in such treatment of humanity, even if it is only the humanity of Arabs in revolt?

A NOTABLE ACHIEVEMENT

The display of the Girl Guides of Montreal last Saturday night was a most creditable demonstration of efficiency. Those in charge, as well as every one of the two thousand girls taking part, are to be most warmly congratulated on the unusually high degree of perfection attained. It was a fine exhibition of organizing ability, of co-operation, of intelligent co-operation and of self-control. There was not the slightest sign of any confusion in the handling, in a limited space, of the vast number of girls. There was no hesitation or uncertainty and not a moment's

THE KING OF THE MESHUMMODIM

By Ferdinand M. Isserman

A consuming passion to teach its gospel to non-believers has been characteristic of Christianity since, under the leadership of Paul, it ceased being a Jewish sect and began to spread its propaganda among the Gentiles. Anxious as the church has always been to convert the infidels and barbarians, it has been still more anxious to convert the Jews, for their ancestors were the witnesses to the Christian truths; they were the kinsmen of its founder, and they, according to its theology, were the "chosen people." For centuries the church set about its task of baptising the Jews. It threatened, it bribed, it persecuted, it cajoled. It invented Ghettos, fashioned yellow badges, tried the Inquisition. But apparently it could not win over the "stiff-necked people." Of course the lure of social advantages, the promise of rapid promotion, the freedom from irksome and painful restraints brought some Jews to the baptismal font. But the Jewish masses persisted, refused to yield their vision and ideal, and declined to accept as deity a humble Galilean Jew of the first century. But though apparently frustrated, the church has not yet abandoned hope of some day winning the Jew over to its theology, despite the odious reputation it has helped create about him. In the heart of every pious orthodox Christian, there slumbers a hope that some day the Jews would see the light and "hit the trail."

This hope is like a slumbering fire easily aroused, and perenially some incident or incidents serve as a can of petroleum for these slumbering flames, and a blaze of hope bursts forth. When Dr. Wise's widely heralded and misquoted sermon appeared, the fires blazed high, and orthodox Christianity breathed a sigh of triumph as it believed that at last the Jew began to see the light. Just as the memories of Wise's words were fading in Toronto, along comes the king of the Meshummodim, Sir Leon Levinson, president of the international Hebrew Christian Alliance, an organization for which he claims 200,000 members, and tries to arouse pious Christian folk to their age-old task of winning the Jews for Christianity.

To convert Jews, to strengthen the "enfeebled Christian church," to prevent Hebrew Christians from becoming Catholics but to keep them evangelical Protestants, to keep Hebrew Christians loyal to Christianity, to win the Mohammedan world for the church, to train Hebrew Christian ministers, to keep up the courage of Hebrew Christians and to give them material support and to create a home for the descendants of liberal Jews are some of the aims of Sir Leon's organization. He painted a glowing picture of the talents and capacities of the Jews, and indicated what wonderful assets they would be for the church. He asserted that if Protestantism did not win the Jew, Roman Catholicism would, and with his aid Rome would win over all the Protestant denominations. The bait he held out to his naive and sincere audience was most tempting. The Jews are a prize, and they must be enlisted not in the cause of Christianity but in the cause of their specific denomination, that it might become all-powerful.

All members of the Hebrew Christian Alliance must subscribe to the following doctrines: 1. The atonement. 2. "The deity, not the divinity, of the Nazarene." 3. The resurrection, and 4. The literal truth of the Old and New Testaments. Not conduct, but intellectual assent to a few dogmas which the intellectual world has discarded is the criterion of membership. Contrast that with the Psalmist's "Who shall ascend the hill of the Lord, and who shall stand in His holy place? He that hath clean hands and a pure heart," and you see strikingly one of the differences between Judaism and orthodox Christianity, the supreme demand of one being belief and the other action. After denying these doctrines for 1,900 years, midst persecution and suffering, midst prejudices and passions, midst hardships and privations, when the intellectual world accepted them, is it likely that the Jew will accept them when the intellectual world rejects them, when even many Christians have discarded them, among them men like Harry Emerson Fosdick, John Haynes Holmes and Percy Stickney Grant? Those pious Christians who are being led to believe that Jews will accept orthodox Christianity with its archaic and dying theology are being deluded and misled. The Oriental mysteries and Platonic speculations which furnished the substrata for Christian theology, can never be regarded by thinking men as eternal truths of religion. The modern intellectual world has shattered the old theology, and in many respects has vindicated Israel's historic stand that man cannot be deity.

The literal truth of the Old and New Testament, like the rest of Sir Leon's theology, is a notion which modern scholarship has completely riddled. As for a home for the descendants of liberal Jews in evangelical Protestantism, how absurd to imagine that the liberal Jew, who has purified Judaism of many of its superstitions, who has reconciled Jewish thought and modern science, who has recognized the human origin of religions, who studies comparative religion, that he or his child should come to Sir Leon's society with its mediaeval notions, and its fossilized and petrified theology! What can be more preposterous? Well, what's the use of going on?

PROPOSED NEW "BY-LAW" CONCERNING LAUNDRIES

For some time past there has been a growing demand from many influential citizens that the Health Department of Montreal should more strictly supervise the running of laundries in the city. It is claimed that many of the smaller laundries, especially those that are running in small places that were very often just private houses previously, should be made to make drastic changes, and that no more of these small, unsanitary places should be allowed to open up. What means have these places for disinfecting or sterilizing clothes? What proper method of drying same? Is there plenty of light and ventilation? Unfortunately most of these questions must be answered in the negative and it is for these reasons that the city fathers are once again urged to take action towards a proper inspection system to apply to all laundries from the largest down to the smallest.

Here are a few of the main points from the proposed "by-law concerning laundries," and the remarkable thing about it all is that these "health laws" have not been put into effect years ago. "No laundry shall be operated within the city limits without first obtaining a license, and the license shall only be granted by the city treasurer on a permit previously obtained from the Health Department.

"The inspectors of the Health Department should visit laundries from time to time in order to make sure that the provisions of the by-laws regarding health and sanitation have been complied with.

"There should be no laundry permitted to do business in a dwelling house.

"Laundries should be provided with the necessary facilities for the separate handling of clean and soiled linen so that no laundered linen can at any time come in contact with unlaundered or soiled linen."

These are a few of the suggestions made by many of the citizens of Montreal, who would like to see same covered by our civic by-laws. When one thinks of the danger to the health of the public which unsanitary laundries mean, it is time for action to be taken.

CANADIAN PAPERBOARD $300,000 STOCK ISSUE

Johnston & Ward, members of the Montreal Stock Exchange are offering for public subscription an issue of $300,000 seven per cent., cumulative, redeemable preferred stock of the Canadian Paperboard Company, Limited. The proceeds of the issue are to be used in part to liquidate capital expenditures made at the plants of the company and for general corporate purposes.

Canadian Paperboard owns and operates plants at Montreal, Frankford, Ont., and Campbellford, Ont., which are now equipped to turn out daily 115 tons of paperboard, containerboard and allied products. This capacity will shortly be increased to 155 tons per day. It is the largest manufacturer of these products in Canada.

The company owns its own ground wood pulp mill at Frankford, which supplies a considerable part of its ground wood requirements. In addition it owns the entire capital stock of the Quinte and Trent Valley Power Company, operating plants at Frankford and Campbellford with an installed capacity of 4,000 h.p. and an ultimate capacity of 6,000 h.p.

The company is itself controlled by the Northern Paperboard Corporation, Limited, a holding company which also controlled the Tidewater Paperboard Co. The latter will operate a modern paperboard mill at Norwich, Ont., with a present capacity of 100 tons and an ultimate capacity of 250 tons per day. The president of Northern Paperboard estimates, on the basis of operations of the two subsidiaries, that earnings will be equivalent to nearly $[illegible] share on common stock, and when capacity is increased to 250 tons at the Tidewater mill, earnings on the common will be over $9 per share.

The offering price of the present issue is $100 per share, with a bonus of one-half share of Northern Paperboard common with each share of Canadian Paperboard preferred.

After giving effect to the present financing, the issued capitalization of Canadian Paperboard consists of $[illegible] first mortgage bonds, $300,000 preferred stock and $2,100,500 common stock. The balance sheet as at February 28 [illegible] shows total assets of $2,121,27[illegible] $300,000 issue of preferred stock, equal to $707 for each share of $[illegible]. Average earnings for the past three years, certified by the auditors, were [illegible] five times preferred dividend requirements.

It is too true that the best stuff, meaning the most entertaining, never gets into the newspapers to which it is sent so confidently for publication. No matter what shining gems of mind and soul a paper reveals, the real story of the life about it cannot be used and to dust returneth. Custom declares and thenceforth editors are slaves to ideas about dignity, policy, good-form and the like. Bosses lay down rules about news being cut to fit a certain space dictated by the amount of advertising and editors must slash and hack out columns and cheat the circulation list of lots of fun. The news in the REVIEW remains with salient points intact, but trimmings are buried deeper than the country's untapped resources, having enriched no one but a shrivelled editor all too undeserving. Even if business is good some sunny day and a department opened entitled "Judaica Canadana," it could only live for an issue. After that contributors would be wary and even the editor would be left with nothing more than bare facts, announcements and obituaries. Such a column would only serve to illustrate conclusively to effervescent contributors that some things may look just beautiful in writing that are not so nice in print.

For example, the following is from the pen of the secretary of a certain athletic club with the request to print, names and all: 'The club is having a reunion on account of their past president, Mr. So-an-so, coming back. His engagement prevented him from attending and thus he resigned. He was planning for the future then, but now watch him pull the club out. It was learned officially that his engagement was broken off, the reason being that he couldn't attend school and likewise be engaged." These are words of wisdom on the strain and perils of trying to be engaged, attend school and be an athlete all at the same time, and yet instinctive consideration for a young lady left out in the cold by a clubman's enthusiasm for other activities, consideration for the clubman's inalienable right to privacy in affairs of the heart, and particularly, perhaps, for the secretary who sent in the news in an ill-advised moment, prevents more than the bare announcement that Mr. So-and-so was re-elected president of the club on Monday last.

An almost endless source of joy and sunlight to any paper, especially an English-Jewish paper, may be found in the minutes of meetings of executive boards of such organizations, say, as the Zionist organization. These minutes must be mimeographed because they are distributed in such number in the pressing work of arousing the people to the Zionist cause. They are sent out to be read, to be printed, the whole or any part, and yet editorial nobility must often preclude their publication.

Once upon a time a gentleman by the name of Lord Allenby came to Canada and many Zionists in Winnipeg, Hamilton and Toronto were received formally by him and presented him with addresses. When Lord Allenby got to Montreal the vice-president of the Zionists there was informed that Lord Allenby would give to a small delegation of about five the opportunity of a short reception. The report says: "The president then insisted that at least double that number be invited, which was communicated to the Allenby committee in charge, who consented with much reluctance." From then on what ensued must have been as touching as the sight of strong women playing lotto at a Sisterhood bridge. Treated to the cleansing fire of trying to decide which ten men the Lord would delight most to honour, any president or vice-president of any organization ought to go far, as far as the environs of world assemblages where they decide on the world's affairs. Naturally some gentlemen were not among those ten or so in the "highly representative" delegation, and when the celebration was over and it came to such humdrum things as meetings of executive boards, a certain gentleman arose to inquire as man to man why he and other Council members had not been invited to the party. Quite likely he was awfully mad. Well, can an editor be so mean as to let the world know he made a fuss? And so all that is sent through the REVIEW from coast to coast and city to hamlet is that, at the meeting of the executive board, it was reported, "Total receipts since the closing of the books for the convention were $45,618.97. . . ."

Even in such a restless, troubled setting as the world to-day provides for the Jewish home, orators are still wont to extol the purity, the exceptional chastity of that home and its daughters. These daughters are the ornament, if the anxiety of the home, sometimes Ruths, sometimes meek Rebeccas at the well. It is pleasant to be lulled along into believing that no girls are so naive, so virtuous, so sheltered and modest as these Jewish girls. To be [illegible] with a club notice announcing a performance in which these maidens are described in the language of a burlesque show press [illegible] unnerving in the extreme. To print such description would be to yank the retiring CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW from the [illegible] mother class right into the category of the Police Gazette. Requests to print are urgent even with a notice like the last one: "This is to banana oil. The cast includes the following beautiful, pep[illegible] stepping, syncopating Mamas. Come and watch them do their stuff."

Of course it sometimes takes restraint. f.f.c

Margolese spoke for the affirmative and H. Weinfeld and A. L. Cohen for the negative on the debate. "Resolved, that fatalism is rationally conceivable." Harris Vineberg, Louis Lewis and G. Claxton awarded the decision to the affirmative. Miss E. Lewis played the piano and Miss R. Kellert sang. When Mr. and Mrs. Clarence I. de Sola returned from their wedding trip they were presented with an illuminated address by the board of the Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue. Born at Brockville, Ont., a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Vineberg. Louis Samenhof returned from a business trip. Miss Goldstein was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. Ship. Mrs. W. tedium in the long programme, every item of which was well carried out without the slightest delay. The discipline in the individual companies was remarkable. It was altogether a splendid exhibition of the work of the Girl Guides' Organization.

The only regrettable feature was the apparently insignificant number of Jewish girls. Those who were there share in the praise due to all alike, but there were comparatively so few of them. Guiding is an excellent training. It develops the physical, mental and moral capacity of the girl. It makes her self-reliant and practical. Montreal has a large number of Jewish young women, single and married, with plenty of time on their hands, who, if only they would take up the not very difficult, but most fascinating training, would prove excellent officers. Winnipeg, with a community one-fourth the size of Montreal, has more than four times the number of Guides as Montreal, to judge by those present at the rally. There are in Winnipeg more Jewish officers than there were girls in the Shaar Hashomayim Company. Winnipeg has a Jewish Commissioner in the person of Mrs. Maxwell Heppner. And Mrs. Heppner is a District Commissioner with troops of all denominations under her command. The Jewish girls in Montreal are losing the benefits of a valuable opportunity in the lack of interest being taken in guiding.

BOYS' CAMPS

The oppressive summer days in the larger cities weigh very heavily upon the children of the poor. Freedom from school means for them a crushing burden. Poor little mites! They suffer from the heat and do not know how to pass away the tedious hours. They become demoralized. Vacation time for them means danger time. They play in the streets at games which harm them physically and spiritually. They get into mischief, often as not the opening of the door that leads to a career of crime. They are subjected to the risk of accidents that bring disablement or death. The street urchin is a sorry hapless individual in summer time.

In an attempt to alleviate somewhat this unhappy state of affairs, the Bnai Brith lodges of Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg have established summer camps for under-privileged children. Experience is now demonstrating that very few children who have been to a Bnai Brith summer camp find their way into the Juvenile Courts. The influences brought to bear upon them during their all too short stay in the country; the kindly and friendly supervision they get; the training and exercise; the religious discipline; the wholesome food; the sunshine that brightens their souls as it darkens their bodies; the memory of the enjoyments and the hope to which they look forward; all these tend to keep them better and straighter during the rest of the year.

Last year the Montreal Bnai Brith boys' camp in the Laurentian Mountains cared for 305 boys for a period of two weeks each. The Toronto Lodge at its camp on Lake Ontario accommodated 438 boys for two weeks each. Winnipeg Lodge, on Lake Winnipeg, found room for 711 boys and girls, in five groups for ten days each. The groups of boys and girls alternated, one group of 165 being a mixed one. In comparing these figures it must be remembered that camp facilities are governed by many different local conditions, such as accessibility, available accommodation, supply of funds and type of children cared for. The Winnipeg Camp has a permanent frame building fully equipped, the cost of which was largely borne by the District Grand Lodge (No. 6), whose property it is, and which contributes $1,000 a year to the cost of maintenance. Children are taken who can afford to pay something, no distinctions being made at the camp between those who pay and those who are taken free. Last year the camp fund benefited to the extent of $750 from that source. An unsolicited donation of $800 was also received from the Winnipeg Tribune newspaper, as well as a sum of $850 from the Federated Budget, which includes all denominations. This latter item will, however, not be obtainable in future. The Toronto camp derives some of its support from the Federation of Jewish Charities. The Montreal camp obtains its funds entirely from personal donations. No information is available at the moment as to the provision for girls in Toronto and Montreal. It is to be hoped that their needs are not entirely overlooked. It must be added that all three camps are kosher and provide religious services.

It is most earnestly to be hoped that the work of the Bnai Brith in this most outstanding feature of its activities in Canada, shall not be allowed to fall backward for lack of support. It is so very easy to find excuses for not giving. "You must not do any good at all on my account because you do not do more," is what many people say in response to an appeal. What they say in effect is "No matter how much good you may do, it's no use your looking to me to help, for I would find an excuse anyway. My middle name is 'excuse.' Others will say they they have had to give so much lately that they cannot afford any more. Others will not be able to spare anything, because their summer holidays and pleasures cost so much. But it must be remembered that such children are waiting to go and unable to go because the accommodation must be limited through lack of funds, suffers a disappointment which is a cruel blow to a child in its poverty, veritably blighting its heart. What is more cruel than cruelty to a poor child?

The Montreal Lodge wishes to increase its beneficiaries from [illegible] to at least 400. This means an increase in subscribers and amounts. Every member who fails to contribute is a very great asset to the lodge. Those who are not members of the lodge should remember that the poor boys are not members of the lodge, either. Every member of the lodge benefits. The lodge is only the agent of a noble and valuable public cause. On hot summer days remember the unhappy boys in the dusty streets and help give them a little bit of green grass to roll on and a cool pool to dip in.

A sensational statement was [illegible] by the "Esti-Kurier" in Budapest declaring that the Doppelkreuz [illegible] bund, the leading anti-Semitic organization in Hungary, is organized on a military basis and controls all political events and Government decisions in the country.

Editor, CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW,

In reply to an article in your last issue under the heading, "The Negation of the Constitution," severely censuring the sitting member of the constituency of Peace River for retaining his seat in Ottawa, alleged as having been "obtained as a result of a criminal act" on the part of an official in charge of the ballots. The stolen ballots having been used for the benefit of an opponent who failed of election, and moreover being stolen partly at least from the duly elected candidate, surely it would be the height of injustice to require him to incur the trouble and expense of a new election and more particularly as it is claimed that were all the stolen ballots counted for the third candidate the result of the election would not be affected.

The seat was evidently obtained not as a result of "but" in spite of "a criminal act on behalf of an opponent and for which the member is in no way responsible.

The article in question evidently is either the result of misinformation of facts or the "constitution" which it is sought to uphold is surely in direct conflict with both justice and common sense.

Yours truly,

LOEW'S

"Beverley of Graustark," which will be seen at Loew's next week, is Marion Davies' best picture. The star of "Yolanda," "Little Old New York," "Janice Meredith," "Zander the Great," "Lights of Old Broadway" and other big screen successes, has never appeared to better advantage than in this exceedingly popular tale of a beautiful young girl's adventures in royal court circles abroad.

George Barr McCutcheon is one of the most successful and popular novelists America has produced. "Beverley of Graustark" was a best-seller for years. Opposite Marion Davies in this production appears one of the screen's most popular leading men, Antonio Moreno, now playing in Ingram's immensely successful "Mare Nostrum."

Rabbi Isserman's Editorial

Sir Leon's proposals can only impress the intellectually blind. Religious fanatics may gulp them down, but sane men can only laugh at them.

What is Sir Leon doing? He is filling a lot of good pious Christian people with false hopes. He is feeding kindling wood to their desire to convert the Jew, and when that desire is frustrated as it must be who knows with what disastrous results to the Jews? He is even kindling strife among Christians by suggesting the threat of Roman Catholicism. He is annoying Jews, as he must be annoying thinking Christians. He is but adding another sect in Christianity, and Christianity has too many all ready.

Sir Leon plans to go to Poland as an ambassador to the starving Jews from his organization. There he plans to feed and baptize. We would suggest this to the Christian world. There are millions of Jews in Poland who shudder at the mention of the name of Jesus. Do you want them to think more kindly of him, to evaluate properly his personality—then send your emissaries to Poland, laden not with prayer-books and catechisms, but laden with food and clothes and shelter—as a symbol that the teachings of the humble Galilean are living forces in your lives, and by doing that atone for the Christian sin of the centuries, and wipe away the blood of Jews which now bespatters the escutcheon of Christianity.

PROVINCE OF ONTARIO SAVINGS IN NEW DOWNTOWN OFFICES

The Province of Ontario Savings Office on Monday last, May 10, transferred their Bay and Adelaide branch from the Harland Smith Building on the southwest corner of Bay and Adelaide Streets to the new quarters in the Northern Ontario Building on the northwest corner of Bay and Adelaide Streets.

The new office, in addition to being more commodious, has been entirely equipped with new fixtures and this popular savings institution is now housed in a thoroughly modern and convenient office. Realizing that this branch is particularly convenient for downtown workers, pains have been taken to arrange the office and provide equipment to furnish quick and accurate service to the many depositors who are in the habit of transacting their personal business during the lunch hour. Ample space has been provided for the public with two entrances, one from Bay Street and one from Adelaide. Tellers' cages and ledger desks have been located with a view of avoiding congestion and to enable the staff to serve the public expeditiously.

The location is not only convenient to the downtown workers in that it is near their places of employment, but it is also in the heart of the shopping district and depositors in addition to attending to their banking business during the lunch hour, can also do their shopping in the time at their disposal.

The Province of Ontario Savings Office is to be congratulated on securing such desirable quarters, and we have no doubt that this branch will prove more popular than ever with the downtown workers.

Confidence--the Keynote of Success

The knowledge that one is properly dressed creates that confidence which characterizes a successful man.

Collars that feel like a caress. The Van-Dusen and semi-soft made to rival the best starched collar.

Shirts that fit correctly. No bulging at neck or bosom. Cuffs turned evenly, and when necessary taken off and reversed.

Socks and Woollens with that soft, velvety feeling so much desired and only possible when a soap like "Ivory" is used.

Repairs—Every article the man wears kept in first-class condition, not merely "mending free."
